MEDIA RELEASE

Calliden to expand home insurance portfolio

On Friday 18 February Ansvar Insurance announced that it is working closely with Calliden to provide home insurance solutions to intermediaries and their customers following its decision to no longer distribute personal insurance through its distribution partner networks within Australia.

Nick Kirk, Calliden Group's Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer said:

"Ansvar Insurance decision provides Calliden with an opportunity to further grow our home portfolio by providing intermediaries and their customers with an alternative in home insurance.

Representatives from Ansvar Insurance and Calliden will continue to work closely to ensure we provide intermediaries with practical and timely solutions for the necessary transition."

Further detailed information will be released this week to Ansvar Insurance distribution partners outlining the solutions and the timing of their availability from Calliden.
